Creating that Harmonious Balance: MSU at 63

As the MSU System community commemorates the 63rd Foundation Anniversary of the Mindanao State University System this, we cannot help reflecting on MSU's long journey through the decades and reaffirm our commitment to advancing education that not only embraces innovation but also nurtures humanity.

This year's theme, "MSU: Fostering a Harmonious Balance between Technology and Humane Learning," encapsulates and illustrates this evolving mission of the university. In a rapidly changing world dominated by technological advancements, it is only just and necessary that we ground our innovations in empathy, ethics, and cultural inclusivity. MSU, as a beacon of education and development in Mindanao, has always been uniquely positioned to strike this balance.

The one-of-a-kind anniversary celebrations this year is evidence of the dynamic and diverse spirit of the MSU community. From the usual events like the literary, musical, and dance competitions to groundbreaking events geared on not just celebrating MSU's birthday but also on celebrating what we have become and what we will be in the future, we witnessed the fusion of modernity and tradition that defines our institution.

This milestone reminds us of our role not just as an educational institution but also as a driver of holistic development. We aim to produce graduates who are not only skilled in their fields but are also grounded in the realities of the communities they will serve. To this end, we will continue to invest in cutting-edge facilities, digital tools, and research initiatives, while simultaneously fostering programs that celebrate cultural diversity and ethical leadership.

As we move forward, challenges like resource constraints compel us to innovate responsibly. Yet, I am confident that with our collective determination, MSU will thrive as a model of humane and forward-thinking education. We will continue to serve as a guiding light for Mindanao, ensuring that no one is left behind in the march toward progress.

I extend my heartfelt gratitude to every student, faculty member, staff, and stakeholder who made our 63rd anniversary celebration a resounding success. Your contributions affirm that MSU's strength lies in its people—the lifeblood of our mission and vision. This edition of the Newsletter serves as a compendium of this year's celebrations. I hope the reader will find joy and inspiration tucked between the pages of this issue.

May this anniversary inspire us all to carry forward the legacy of "One MSU", fostering harmony between technology and humanity in all our endeavors. Together, let us pave the way for a future where learning transforms lives and communities.

Dati Rati sa MSU

Ramil Samporna

I studied at one of the colleges in downtown Marawi City in the early nineties. During that time, the Mindanao State University (MSU) Marawi City Campus was our nearest getaway—at least for my circle of friends from school.

MSU was just 10 minutes away, if I remember correctly. So, it was indeed the nearest place to escape when we needed to relax and forget about the rush of the day in the downtown area. We used to call MSU the “Uptown.”

When in Uptown (MSU), I felt different. But in a good way. There was no traffic, so you could reach the campus faster than you can now. There were no tricycles roaming around the campus, nor were there tri-cabs. Four-wheeled vehicles were few and far between. Almost everyone walked, getting their lungs worked out, sweating it out, and pumping their hearts to the beat of their breathing and pacing. There were fewer buildings and more space for the breeze to swirl. You could hear the birds chirping while walking around the campus, especially when you took the golf course route on your way down to the Colleges of Forestry and King Faisal. There was little to no noise pollution.

There were only a few restaurants and food places in and around the campus. We used to dine at just one spot in the commercial center—almost every time. Pizzas and grilled chicken. Ah, I'll never forget the 5-peso empanada, bloated with fillings.

It was a serene feeling when at MSU. It felt like a vacation every time. (Funny how my friends and I would gather at the exact spot in MSU during those times, even though we lived in different locations downtown, without the mobile phone technology we have nowadays.) The cool breeze was just ecstatic as it touched your face. There were no audible distractions, nor any visual obstructions. I guess progress has its price.

However, as changes continue in our society and surroundings, don't let it change how MSU made your day, your week, your months, and your years when you were there. The only constant in this world is “change,” but make your changes the best version of everything. You might see changes in MSU now, but sit in a place where you sat before, and it will bring you back the same warm or cool feeling you had the very first day MSU welcomed you—with arms (I mean, trees) wide open.

Forwards Islamic Banking in the Philippines

Prof. Sorhaila L. Latip-Yusoph, PhD and Ms. Nur-Saleha D. Dadayan

The 12th AICIF International Conference explored the important role of Islamic finance in creating a better world. It looked at how Islamic finance could help achieve sustainable development and lasting peace. One key area focused on was how Islamic finance could be used to support green initiatives, microfinance, and responsible investments. This could help address environmental and social challenges.

Further, the conference highlighted a discussion on how Islamic banking could be used to provide financial services to people who were often excluded from traditional banking systems. This could empower communities and promote social cohesion. Another important topic was how Islamic finance could contribute to economic stability, reduce inequality, and foster peaceful coexistence. This could help address the root causes of conflict and support peacebuilding efforts. Finally, the challenges and opportunities facing Islamic finance in a rapidly changing world were also discussed. This included the integration of new technologies like Fintech and the need for strong regulatory frameworks. Throughout the two-day conference, sharing of new researches, innovative ideas, and practical strategies for using Islamic finance to create a more sustainable and peaceful future were given emphasis in the parallel presentations and plenary sessions.

"Islamic Banking is not only for Muslims but for all," says Atty. Arifa Ala, the Assistant Governor of Banko Sentral ng Pilipinas. Other ASEAN countries such as Malaysia and Indonesia reports that the methods of their Islamic Banks have been favored that they also have non-Muslim clients. Indeed, Islamic Finance is a financial system that is different from the conventional banks because it follows the Shari'ah Law. Ayesha Merdekah A. Alonto

The din of celebratory sounds reverberating everywhere was immediately apparent upon entering the campus, along with the sight of activities in every visible nook and cranny, with a splay of vibrant colors beautifully catching one's eye. Although it was a Sunday, September 1, 2024, it was evident that everyone was united in celebrating the 63rd Foundation Day of Mindanao State University. In the Grandstand, the moment the program began, the seeming cacophony of noise blended into a symphony of celebration, and the splay of colors transformed into a parade of colleges, with their students proudly brandishing their flags alongside known personalities holding the banners of their organizations within MSU-Main.

In the artistically decorated Meranaw covered stage in the middle of the Grandstand stood the MSU System President, Sultan Atty. Basari D. Mapupuno, leading all in commemorating the 63rd Founding Anniversary of MSU with the theme, "Fostering a Harmonious Balance between Technology and Humane Learning." Joining him on stage were the Guest Speaker, H.E. Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary Dato' Abdul Malik Melvin Castelino of Malaysia, and other important visitors such as University of the Philippines President Angelo Jimenez, along with members of the Board of Regents, System officials, and MSU Chancellors. On each side of the covered stage were tents where other officials, directors, and guests of MSU were seated. On the bleachers, proudly wearing the shirts of their respective colleges and offices, sat the Faculty and personnel of MSU-Main.

As we mark the 63rd Anniversary of Mindanao State University, with its 12 campuses throughout Mindanao, along with its extension campuses and the hundred thousands of lives it has transformed for the better, and with the establishment of the Bangsamoro Autonomous Region of Muslim Mindanao as its current backdrop, MSU System President Basari D. Mapupuno succinctly encapsulated in his speech that MSU concretized the line in its hymn, "Silahis ang katulad mong nagsabog ng liwanag, ng pag asa't hangarin ng pagunlad." That's MSU at 63, on the path of a peaceful and progressive Mindanao towards a One Philippines.

Various MSU alumni shared their appreciation and gratitude for the university. After the program, university officials inaugurated the MSU-IIT One MSU Gallery, showcasing the 11 campuses of MSU. Simultaneously, the gymnasium hosted MSU Trivia and Pakulo events.

Dahil MSU ikaw, ikaw naman talaga
Ang unang pamantasan kong minahal.”

Dr. Isla’s poem served as a poignant reminder of the enduring love and loyalty that MSU fosters within its students, faculty, staff, and alumni. This bond transcends time and distance, ensuring that MSU remains a cherished place of learning, growth, and belonging for generations to come.

Social Work and Criminology students of MSU-MSAT join the parade during the opening ceremony of MSU's Founding Anniversary celebration held in MSU-Main Campus.

The Mindanao State University—Maigo School of Arts and Trades (MSU-MSAT) community joined the MSU System in celebrating its 63rd Founding Day on September 1, 2024. This year marked a milestone for the campus, with the integration of newly hired faculty and the commencement of the Bachelor of Science in Criminology and Social Work program.

The day began early, with Superintendent Atty. Jamaloden A. Basar leading the faculty, staff, and students who gathered on the MSU-MSAT Campus, a convoy of vans transported everyone to MSU-Marawi, where they proudly wore MSU-MSAT shirts adorned with ethnic designs and the slogan "One MSU," symbolizing their unity and shared goals.

During the parade, the Social Work and Criminology students, representing the student body of MSU-MSAT, chanted "M, S, U," signifying "Magagaling (brilliant), Sikat (shining), and "Ikaw at Ako" (You and Me). "Magagaling" reflects their intelligence and competencies, "Sikat" highlights their accomplishments in board examinations, and "Ikaw at Ako" emphasizes the principle that they could not achieve success without one another. These expressions powerfully encapsulate the essence of what MSU embodies.

The spirit of the MSU-MSAT family was further ignited when Campus Superintendent Atty. Basar addressed them on stage. He was seated alongside MSU System President Atty. Basari D. Mapupuno, Dato' Abdul Malik Melvin Castelino, the honored guest speaker who delivered an inspiring address, as well as the chancellors and other MSU system officials.

The MSU-MSAT Inno Band also serenaded the entire MSU System community, receiving enthusiastic applause and even standing ovations. "Inno," short for "Innovative," reflects the concept championed by the visionary Campus Superintendent, Atty. Jamaloden A. Basar, who prioritizes innovation in leadership.

The program featured a variety of cultural performances, including a captivating presentation by the MSU-MSAT Indayog, showcasing the traditional Filipino dance "Sayaw sa Bangko." This energetic dance is performed on benches and requires agility and balance. Originating in the Visayan region, it is often performed during festive occasions. The colorful traditional attire adds vibrancy to the performance, and the choreography includes playful interactions that reflect the joyful spirit of Filipino culture. The audience was captivated by the performance, which highlighted the rich cultural heritage of the Philippines.

At the end of the day, the MSU-MSAT family returned to their respective homes, filled with joy, camaraderie, and a renewed commitment to unity. MSU-MSAT truly embodies the spirit of "Gumagandang MSU-MSAT," as it not only offers quality education, academic excellence, and exemplary service, but also works to unite all MSU campuses as one.

The band's skilled musicians and twirlers provided a captivating performance, while the participants from various departments and colleges showcased their vibrant spirit through colorful T-shirts and unique balloon creations.

The simple yet meaningful celebration served as a unifying force, bringing together the MSU community in a collective shout of "Happy 63rd anniversary, MSU! ONE MSU!"

MSU-OIPP Benchmarks at XU Press

Ayesha Merdeka M. Alonto

Last October 10, 2024, all personnel of the Office of Information, Press, and Publication of MSU-Main trekked to Cagayan de Oro City to do benchmarking at the Press Office of Xavier University-Ateneo de Cagayan. Led by OIPP Director, Dr. Sorhaila L. Latip-Yusoph, OIPP personnel had a three hours session and tour on the entire process and operation of XU Press and the Communications and Promotion Office.

The group was warmly welcomed by Dr. Arlene J. Yandug, Director of XU Press and Director Ann Catherine T. Acenas of the Communications and Promotions Office of Xavier University. They even had a LED Welcome banner for the OIPP Personnel.

It was a lively informative and interactive activity with the XU Press. Director Yandug ran us through the daily operation of XU-Press along with the process of selecting authors, the printing of books, all the way to profit and consignment details. Director Acenas did the same for the Communications and Promotions Office of Xavier University. What was amazing of all was to know that both offices only have a handful of personnel, XU Press only has 3 personnel including Director Yandug while they are 4 at her office according to Director Acenas, yet XU-Press has printed tens of books and has an impressive financial profit for Xavier University in just few years of operation while Director Acenas with her Team ensure the up to date fast communications and promotions of the entire Xavier University.

What was truly impressive was the humility and hands on knowledge of its heads and personnel. We could pull out any of their other personnel and they can run us through the entire briefing as their heads did. Director Acenas said that while she is alone with only three others at her office, she is vested with the full authority on matters under the mandate of her office and same goes with Director Yandug of XU-Press. There were no pretense expertises in both their briefing or their persons, rather what they left with us was that it is in their knowing how to tap and utilize expertises of their own human resources that makes their daily operation smooth. All are in the same page so to speak and it's of and for Xavier University.

In that brief benchmarking activity we learned much. It is with prayer that we can replicate the same at MSU-Main.

A Lasting Legacy

Mohammad Walid R. Gumal

Following the triumph of the College of Social Sciences and Humanities (CSSH) as the champions for the Original Composition category of the 2024 Musical Extravaganza, this milestone highlights a graduating student from the Department of Communication and Media Studies.

Omar Gaga Jr., a 4th-year BA Journalism student and the brain behind the iconic song “MSUan Tano,” the original composition entry of CSSH, has been featured as an excellent singer, winning championships and earning a place in singing contests. However, behind this persona lies a leader with a unique story.

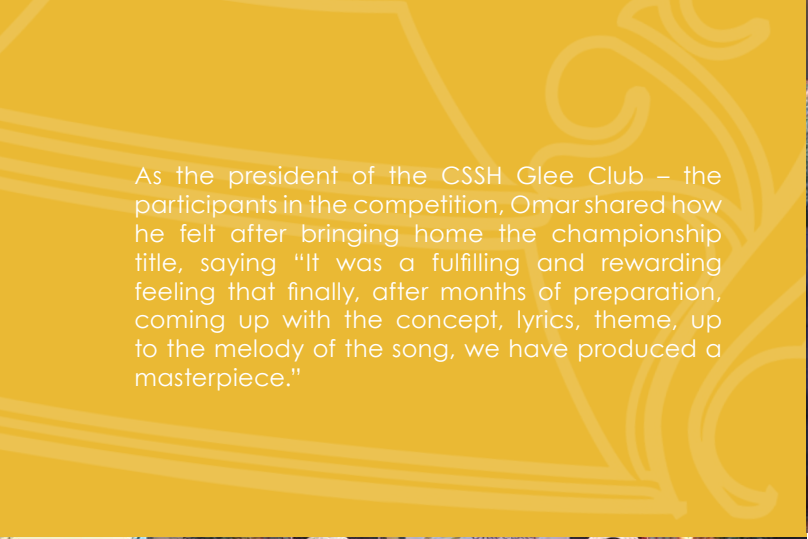

He also shared how there were times when he doubted his composition but chose to stay true to what he envisioned.

“We’d been aiming for a back-to-back win for the college, which came with a lot of pressure since we were expected to retain the title. But in the end, we didn’t just win one champion title but six, achieving a complete sweep for the college!” he added as CSSH was hailed overall champion in the 2024 Musical Extravaganza.

As a graduating student, this year’s extravaganza will be his last time representing the college. Omar expressed his sentiments about what he feels for the members that would be left in their club. He shared how it saddens him that he’ll eventually leave, but he believes that as a mentor and a leader, he wants them to become independent leaders on their own.

“I know I won’t always be there for them, so I always encourage them to believe in themselves. Our victories are a result of their dedication and talent, not solely mine. If I did it, I’m sure they could too!”

Omar’s story in the 2024 Musical Extravaganza may mark the end of his journey as a student competitor, but his name will truly be remembered. His legacy lasts not only because of his exceptional musical talent but also because of his admirable spirit as a leader and mentor to his fellow artists.

As the president of the CSSH Glee Club – the participants in the competition, Omar shared how he felt after bringing home the championship title, saying “It was a fulfilling and rewarding feeling that finally, after months of preparation, coming up with the concept, lyrics, theme, up to the melody of the song, we have produced a masterpiece.”

Grace in Motion: Celebrating Dance and Triumph at MSU's 63rd Founding Anniversary

Jazheel Sarino and Alaiza Diosmaparan

One of the most anticipated events in line with the 63rd founding anniversary of Mindanao State University, Main Campus, is the 2024 Dance Extravaganza. This year's competition is another triumph for the College of Sports, Physical Education, and Recreation (CSPEAR) as they won as the Overall Dance Extravaganza Champion for two consecutive years, shining particularly in the Line Dance, Folk Dance, and Contemporary Dance categories.

Amazing performances from different colleges demonstrated talent, commitment, and the beauty of dance as the event progressed. Every routine added a distinct skill, combining complex rhythm, emotion, and steps into a performance full of surprises. Among these performances stood out CSPEAR's excellent choreography and contagious energy.

In their line dance performance, Michael Jem Ozzarraga, line dancer and 2nd-year student from CSPEAR, shared the key to their success. "It can indeed be challenging to stay calm and confident just to maintain my performance, but I always remember the sacrifices and efforts I put into that competition. Lastly, I ask God for wisdom, knowledge, and strength, and I stay humble," said Ozzarraga. His teammate, Jyro Lorono, also expressed his thoughts saying, "Winning a competition is not just about the trophy. It's about the journey, the learning, and the growth."

CSPEAR's brilliance in dance also extended to their folk dance performance. Their concept was different from the usual. It was a performance that the audience had never seen before. This year, they showcased the Regatones which means traveling fish vendors, a dance that originated from Cadiz City, Negros Occidental. Traditionally, the Regatones, together with women fish buyers used to wait for the arrival of fishermen in the long and bountiful shoreline.

Juncel Malinao, a folk dancer and a student from CSPEAR, shared how the Regatones is a very beautiful piece of literature, not only the dance itself but also its content, highlighting the importance of fishermen. "There are a lot of stories behind this dance that can give meaning to every fisherman. This dance is the reflection of their happiness. This shows their culture, on how they harvest fishes and how people wait for them with happiness after," said Malinao.

The Dance Extravaganza is a way for students and the university constituents to not only preserve and honor the various folk dances and traditions that could be shown through dance, but also to showcase how far resilience, perseverance, and camaraderie can take an artist. It is evident that this year's extravaganza had accomplished more than just presenting dances; it had honored self-control, collaboration, and MSU's dynamic culture. A celebration of the arts that flourished at the core of Mindanao State University bearing fruit of the performers' labor.

Librarians' Summit on DEI in the Digital Age

Ahlam Rohaima A. Usodan

The Philippine Librarians Association, Inc.-BARMM Librarians Council (PLAI-BARMMMLC), in collaboration with the University Library and the Department of Library and Information Science, hosted a summit on September 25-26, 2024. Held at the College of Hospitality and Tourism Management Pavilion, the event's theme, "The Library as a Digital Space for Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion," drew attention to the evolving role of libraries in our increasingly digital and inclusive world.

The summit commenced with a warm welcome from Dean, Engr. Karla M. Madrid-Khalid, representing the Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs, Dr. Amerkhan G. Cabaro. Following the welcome address, an inspiring message from Atty. Rashid V. Pandi, Director of the Presidential Management Staff, conveyed President Atty. Basari D. Mapupuno's commitment to the summit's mission. Dr. Alma E. Berowa, Vice President for Academic Affairs, shared her keynote address virtually, emphasizing libraries' essential role in supporting diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) in the academic landscape.

The first day was packed with insightful sessions, each exploring into critical aspects of DEI and libraries in the digital age. The opening session, led by Dr. Marianita D. Dablio, Library Coordinator of Lourdes College, Cagayan de Oro City, explored the theme "Building Collections for Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion." Dr. Dablio, quoting Emily Drabinsky, reminded attendees, "Libraries are for everyone, even people who are nothing like us. It is our professional responsibility to ensure that our readers can see themselves in our collections." Her presentation covered the essentials of DEI-informed collection building, addressing the challenges, available resources, and essential steps toward creating more inclusive collections.

In the second session, Prof. Leilannie M. Pangcatan, faculty member in the Department of Library and Information Science, presented on "Libraries as Spaces for DEI," discussing strategies for building libraries as inclusive and equitable community spaces. Prof. Pangcatan emphasized the role of libraries as transformative spaces that actively promote a welcoming environment for all.

The third session, led by faculty member Roshen M. Lomocso, tackled "Organizing and Providing Access to DEI." Ms. Lomocso's presentation included practical advice on organizing digital collections with DEI in mind, ensuring equitable access, and promoting inclusive digital resources. She introduced best practices and models that libraries can adopt to promote an inclusive digital library experience.

The fourth session invited Abduljaffar L. Mamintal, Head Librarian of the Lanao People's Park and Public Library, and Kamilah S. Unda, Chief Librarian of the Bangsamoro Library and Archives, to share their experiences. They detailed the services, programs, and achievements within their respective libraries, providing real-world examples of DEI in action within BARMM libraries. Workshops and group discussions followed each session, allowing attendees to collaborate and share insights. CE-Logic, Inc. concluded the first day with a presentation on its offerings, showcasing the resources and services available to libraries striving to support DEI goals in their collections and digital offerings.

The second day of the summit shifted focus to research presentations, providing an in-depth look at pressing issues and innovative findings in library science. Librarians and students showcased their studies on a variety of topics, reflecting the diverse roles libraries play in meeting community needs and supporting library staff. Each presentation offered valuable insights into ways libraries can enhance their services, support their teams, and better serve their patrons. Here's an overview of the topics presented:

Revised Cash Incentives for Journal Publication of MSU-Marawi

To enhance the publication performance of the MSU Marawi as it seeks global recognition through world university rankings and impact rankings, only journals indexed in SCOPUS will be eligible for monetary incentives depending on the quartile (Q) rank of the journal by its subject group (field) as proposed in Table 1 with Table 2 as a reference for existing incentives for journals.

Table 1. Proposed incentives for journals indexed in Scopus only according to quartile ranking

Quartile Rank	Incentive (PhP)
Q1	60,000
Q2	55,000
Q3	50,000
Q4	45,000

Table 2. Existing publication incentives for journal publications indexed in Scopus, ISI, ACI, PubMed, etc. (BOR Resolution no. 157, 2021)

Impact Factor	Incentive (PhP)
No Impact Factor	40,000
Less than 1	45,000
Less than 2	50,000
More than or equal to 2	55,000

By motivating faculty, staff, and students to publish in SCOPUS-indexed journals and proceedings, MSU Main Campus intends to improve its visibility and credibility because SCOPUS is recognized as an extensive multidisciplinary database of citations and abstracts from peer-reviewed journals, trade publications, books, patent records, and conference proceedings, and esteemed for its

- stringent review process and high-quality standards,
- extensive readership,
- enhancement of academic credibility,

- provision as bases for funding proposals and promotion approvals, and
- elevation of individual professional profiles.

Consequently, the contributions of MSU researchers in this manner will significantly advance the university's commitment to excellence, reputation, and overall performance.

This proposal shall repeal all previous BOR resolutions on JOURNAL PUBLICATION INCENTIVES except BOR Resolution No. 224, S. 2024 which allocates the monetary incentive of PhP 20,000 for full-paper articles published in conference proceedings journals indexed in SCOPUS irrespective of their status and quartile ranking.

Upon approval of this proposal by the MSU Board of Regents, implementing the revised incentives shall take effect for journals published on or after January 01, 2025, while the current incentive scheme remains in effect for journals published until December 31, 2024.

Resolution No. 367, Series of 2024

Integration of the ASEAN Journal of Science and Technology (AJOST) and the ASEAN Journal for Social Sciences and Humanities (AJOSSH) as Affiliated Journals of the Mindanao Journal

The integration of the ASEAN Journal of Science and Technology (AJOST) and the ASEAN Journal for Social Sciences and Humanities (AJOSSH) as affiliated journals of the Mindanao Journal of the Mamitua Saber Research Center (MSRC) preserves independent identities while leveraging the rich history of the Mindanao Journal (established in 1974). This unified academic platform elevates the academic status of the journals and strengthen their regional and international presence.

Brief History of the Mindanao Journal of MSRC

The Mindanao Journal was established in 1974 through the pioneering efforts of Dr. Mamitua D. Saber, the Dean of Research at the Mindanao State University and the founder of the Institute of Research for Filipino Culture (IFRC) and the University Research Center (URC). As a multidisciplinary publication managed by MSRC, the journal has long served as a key platform for disseminating research on Mindanao and Southern Philippines, particularly in the fields of social sciences, humanities, and applied sciences.

The ASEAN Journal of Science and Technology (AJOST) and the ASEAN Journal for Social Sciences and Humanities (AJOSSH)

Brief History

The ASEAN Journal of Science and Technology (AJOST) and the ASEAN Journal for Social Sciences and Humanities (AJOSSH) are flagship journals of MSRC. Launched as twin ASEAN journals, they continue the legacy of MSU visionaries such as Dr. Mamitua D. Saber, who sought to place the university at the forefront of intellectual discourse through scholarly publications and partnerships. The inaugural print issues of both AJOST and AJOSSH were released in November 2018.

Aims and Scope

Both AJOST and AJOSSH are double-blind, peer-reviewed, open-access, annual journals published by MSRC that contribute to the scholarly exchange within the ASEAN academic community.

Resolution No. 368, Series of 2024

Renaming the Mamtua Saber Research Center (MSRC) to Mamtua Saber Institute of Research and Creation (MSIRC)

This renaming of the Mamtua Saber Research Center (MSRC) to the Mamtua Saber Institute of Research and Creation (MSIRC) reflects the expanded role of the center. The term “Creation” emphasizes the promotion and support of the production of creative works—such as literary, artistic and cultural endeavors—alongside research activities conducted by university constituents.

It is crucial to more accurately represent the university's involvement in creative disciplines, especially in the areas of creative arts, including literary and artistic works. Integrating creative works broadens the institute's scope, fostering interdisciplinary collaborations and elevating the center's impact. This rebranding aligns with the university's Charter by prioritizing research in Filipino Culture, Art, Science, Philosophy, and Literature.

Vision, Mission, Goals, and Objectives (VMGO) of MSIRC

Vision

The Mamtua Saber Institute of Research and Creation (MSIRC) aspires to lead in multidisciplinary research and creative works, producing high-quality publications responsive to local, national, and global challenges. MSIRC will also serve as the premier repository of the rich socio-cultural heritage of Mindanao and support the Mindanao State University's goal of becoming an internationally competitive research university.

Mission

The MSIRC fosters a dynamic research and creative culture by implementing and monitoring outputs protected under intellectual property laws. It secures funding and collaborations at national and international levels while maintaining its role as the main repository for the socio-cultural heritage of Mindanao.

Goals

1. Become a leading research and creative institute both nationally and internationally.
2. Generate sustainable, peer-reviewed, internationally indexed publications.
3. Consistently secure substantial research and creative project funding.
4. Serve as the main repository of Mindanao's socio-cultural heritage and creative works.

Objectives

1. Foster a competitive environment that encourages faculty, staff, and students to engage in high-quality original, groundbreaking research and creative works.
2. Lead the development of research and creative programs aligned with university and national priorities.
3. Sustain research initiatives and creative projects promoting science, technology, humanities, and the socio-cultural heritage of Mindanao's indigenous peoples.
4. Plan, implement, and evaluate research and creative projects in MSU-Main Campus.
5. Encourage research and creative presentations at local, national, and international forums.
6. Promote and maintain peer-reviewed, CHED-accredited journal publications, and creative outlets.
7. Enhance the capacity of researchers and creators in proposal development, technical writing, and creative documentation.
8. Facilitate access to local and global funding sources.
9. Protect intellectual property rights for research and creative outputs.
10. Promote and sustain national, regional, and international collaborations in research and creative endeavors.

Resolution No. 369, Series of 2024

Proposed IP Incentives Program and their Guidelines for MSU Main Campus

Rationale

The Intellectual Property Incentives (IPI) program at MSU is designed to foster a culture of innovation and creativity within the university community. This incentive program is extended to inventors, researchers, faculty members, students, staff, and visiting professors engaged in research and creative activities under any program, project grant, or contract associated with the University.

The primary objective of the IPI program is to encourage the early disclosure of intellectual property and the assignment of rights, such as Utility Models (UM), Industrial Designs (ID), patent rights, and other related rights, including undisclosed information or know-how, to the University. This ensures that valuable intellectual assets are adequately protected and leveraged for the benefit of the entire MSU community.

These assignments and disclosures are conducted in strict compliance with contractual stipulations, Republic Act No. 8293, also known as the Intellectual Property Code of the Philippines, the Implementing Rules and Regulations of the Philippine Technology Transfer Act of 2009, and other relevant laws. Additionally, the program adheres to the System-wide MSU Intellectual Property Rights Policy and any additional guidelines or implementing rules issued by the Office of the President.

The MSU Board of Regents Resolution No. 14, Series of 2020, approved a total fixed amount of PhP100,000.00 per invention, disbursed in milestone-based tranches, to the inventor upon completion of the invention disclosure process as outlined in this IP incentive program guideline. Specifically, financial assistance of PhP50,000.00 is awarded to the researcher(s) and innovator(s) who receive no external funding, upon filing a patent application with IPOPHL's Bureau of Patents through the MSU Intellectual Property Office (MIPO). An additional cash incentive amounting to PhP50,000.00 is awarded to the inventor(s) upon the grant of a patent by IPOPHL.

It is imperative to incentivize other types of intellectual property, such as Utility Models (UM) and Industrial Designs (ID), to further support and acknowledge the diverse forms of innovation generated within the university. This approach not only enhances the IP portfolio and database of Mindanao State University but also strengthens efforts in technology transfer and the commercialization of research outputs.

By aligning with these legal and institutional frameworks, the IPI program not only safeguards the rights of inventors but also accelerates the commercialization and practical application of innovative research and entrepreneurial ideas. This contributes to MSU's mission of advancing knowledge and fostering socio-economic development through innovation and collaboration.

Objectives

As outlined in the Philippine Technology Transfer Act of 2009, the University shall provide incentives to its faculty members, researchers, students, staff, and visiting professors in accordance with prevailing laws. These incentives aim to support efforts in identifying valuable research outputs and intellectual property (IP), as well as advancing IP commercialization efforts. The IPI program is structured to adhere to the following objectives:

1. Expand and enhance the IP portfolio and database of Mindanao State University.
2. Support the commercialization of intellectual property generated within the university by providing incentives to inventors thereby facilitating the transfer of technology and knowledge to broader society.
3. Recognize and incentivize the dedication of inventors throughout the comprehensive journey, from preparing patent applications and IP registrations to obtaining patents and registrations.
4. Foster the development of innovative research and encourage entrepreneurial concepts among inventors and researchers.
5. Promote a proactive approach for the early disclosure of innovations, ideally before traditional publication, to safeguard inventors' rights, streamline technology transfer, enhance the impact of innovations, and initiate market development alongside IP protection, thereby accelerating the commercialization and practical application of groundbreaking research and entrepreneurial ideas.

Bismillahirrahmanirrahim.

Praise be to Allah by whose blessings excellent achievements are accomplished.

On behalf of the MSU System President, all former Deans, the Faculty, staff and students of the MSU College of Law, I wish to congratulate the 2024 Bar passers for accomplishing the most coveted success in one of the country's most difficult exams – the Philippine Bar Examinations.

Your success in the bar is a reward from Almighty God for your sacrifice, commitment and adequate preparations. Your success in the bar also represents your victory over the high expectations of your professors, parents, relatives, and friends who have looked upon you as deserving sons and daughters of our dear Alma Mater, the Mindanao State University. Our proud salutations are due to you! Congratulations!

To our MSUan warriors who are victors in a different way, hold on strong to the ropes of perseverance and hope. Failure in the bar examinations is never and will never be a bar to success in life. Trying again has always been the way of the most successful and influential persons in the whole world from Adam (a.s.) to Zuckerberg.
